Attitude of Gratitude

Staff in the Office of Childhood recently decorated a bulletin board with “Attitude of Gratitude” as a reminder of our recent discussions about being helpful and grateful. Did you know an attitude of gratitude can reduce stress and negative feelings?

An attitude of gratitude is contagious – let’s catch it!

November is a time to be thankful for family, friends, and the good things in life. When my sons were young, we would make hand turkeys by tracing around their hands, drawing a face and legs to make a turkey, and writing something we are thankful for on each finger.

On my hand turkey this year, I’m especially thankful for the many stakeholders, providers, educators, and colleagues helping children and families every day. I’m thankful for their words of encouragement, constructive suggestions, and patience as we continue to learn and grow in the Office of Childhood. I hope you enjoy time with family and friends this Thanksgiving season.

Sincerely,
Pam Thomas
Assistant Commissioner, Office of Childhood
